

Titel of lecture: Prevention through Physiotherapy

ECTS Credits: 4 ECTS

Degree Programme:	BSc Physiotherapy
Semester:	1
Teaching Units:	2 teaching units
Description:	Students dive into the topic of Prevention & Health Promotion both generally as well as from the perspective of (future) physiotherapists. Throughout the course, various approaches and definitions regarding Prevention & Health Promotion are being discussed, preferably with real-life examples.
Assessment:	Throughout the semester, students had the responsibility of creating exam questions on their own in order for them to conduct an exemplary oral exam for their peers. In the 2 teaching units during International Week, these mock exams will take place. The performance in these exams is in no way, shape or form included in the course grade, but the written preparation the students created throughout the semester definitely is.
